Pattern	Description
[verse]	Announces the beggining of a verse text in lyrics. The verses of a song usually have different lyrics, but similar melodic structure.
[pre-chorus]	This tag simply announces the connection between the verse and the chorus and most of the time is accompanied by a change in the melody.
[chorus]	Usually surrounded by only one newline character in each side, this tag only announces that the following part of text represents the chorus. It can appear several times in the lyrics.
[bridge]	This tag announces a change in lyrics and melody, breaking the repetitive pattern of the song in order to keep the listener engaged.
[intro]	Marks the section at the beginning of a song, usually not consisting in any lyrics, just melody.
[outro]	This tag announces the ending section of a song, marked by a dissipation of energy in the melody, such as fade-out or slowing down the tempo.

Structural patterns in lyrics text